Pive Arrests Made As the Result of the Coroner's Investigation-Prisoner George Tuttle a Well-known Man.

AKRON (Colo.) April 12.-Five arrests assessing ted near his ranchnouse, four-teen miles from here, on the night of April 3. The verdict of the Coroner's jury was that Menan was killed as the result of a conspiracy between George Tuttle, Perry Tuttle, Frank Irwin, El-mer Shanks and Clinton Dansdill, and that the immediate cause of his death weer four gunshot wounds inflicted by one or more of the above-named per-sons All have been accepted. sons. All have been arrested.

It developed during the inquest that threats had been frequently made again Menan's life, ever since he killed John Irwin on last Christmas Day. George Tuttle is one of the bestknown men in this section of the State. Perry Tuttle is his son, and is related to the Irwins by marriage. Shanks is a cousin of the Tuttles, and Dansdill is employed by the elder Tuttle. John Irwin, whose killing is said to have started the feud, was a son-in-law of

CENSORSHIP OF PLAYS.

VIENNA, April 12.—Premier Knebb has issued an important circular to the provincial Governor's revising the rules regulating the censorship of plays which have been practically unchanged since 1850. One of the most interesting provisions in the circular is the creation of censorsnip councils, to which condemned plays must be referred. These councils will consist of three nembers, a government, a legal official arid an independent member. The lat-ter must be one specially acquainted with dramatic affairs, such as a dramatist, critic or a literary man. As the present majorities in the councis will be government officials there is little danger of any play distasteful to-the authorities receiving any privileges. The censors are forbidden to revise or alter plays. They may only suggest alterations to the authors.

Shot That Killed Russian Consul at Mitrovitza Set Them Going.

> Delicately-Balanced Considerations of Statesmen Precipitated Down the Wrong Road-Turkey's Dominions and the Concert of Continental Powers Alike Menaced—Czar of Russia the One Hope of Peace.

> > [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ONDON, April 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the inevitableness of fate itself, the course of events in utheastern Europe shapes toward a order in the Balkan peninsula, if only Southeastern Europe shapes toward a great sanguinary struggle. Like many another crisis, which has ushered momentous changes in the destinies of historic races, an unforeseen event has broken in on the calculations of statesmen with such force that it promises to precipitate all their delicately-bal-anced considerations down a road whose only end is war.

In the present situation, this event is the murder of M. St. Cherbina, Russian Consul at Mitrovitza. Allow-Russian Consul at Mitrovitza. Allow-ing for vast contrast in political con-ditions, it may be said broadly that the shot which ended the Russian agent's life had in it for Turkey's dominions in Europe possibilities akin to what the blowing-up of the Maine had for Spain's empire in America. It is difference in degree only, not in kind.

order in the Balkan peninsula, if only because these savages would undoubtedly commit outrages on unarmed Christian peasantry on the plains, and after that European cohesion would inceptably fail to pieces. The Tory newspapers of London bravely declare that England will never allow Russia and Austria to divide Macedonia between them, though it is difficult to see who, except the Turks, could prevent them if they could agree on partition, but

Europe knows that Russia knows where she stands. The Czar's sincer-personal sentiment in favor of peace there is nothing else visible of hopeful augury under the lowering clouds that momentarily threaten to burst upon what is left of European

MERGER DECISION GOOD FOR RAILROADS.

R ICHMOND (Va.) April 12.—The decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the Northern Securities case. Maj. John Skelton Williams president of the Seaboard Air-Line system, says he gegards as one of the greatest blessings and the brightest promises for railroad interests and general business that the country could have. In an interview today with a representative of the Associated Press, when asked his opinion of the decision, Williams said:
"I am satisfied that when they come to study the matter carefully, railroad men and thinking men of all classes, not only in the South, but in the country generally, except those whose am-men and thinking men of all classes, not only in the South, but in the country generally, except those whose ambitious schemes are directly hindered, will be united in the feeling that the decision is sound law, good sense and for the advantage of all legitimate interests and for the country's welfare. From a legal standpoint, it concurs with the opinion of many of the ablest lawyers of the country, and it seems to be fortified with authorities and reasoning too strong to be shaken.

"I have no fear that the Supreme Court will reverse or seriously modify it. Public policy, public sentiment and established principles and precedents of law combine to sustain the Circuit Court. From a commercial and practical railroad standpoint, the soundness of the court's position is indisputable. It voices the judgment of probably nine-tenths of the most conservative business men of the country. Last November, in New Orleans, in an address before the trust company section of the American Bankers' Assoaddress before the trust company section of the American Bankers' Association, I took the grounds that there must be a check to the process of merger and combination. I found my position was heartily approved by most of my hearers, and by the public generally, if I may judge from press comments, and I am satisfied the country at large will welcome the court's action.

I found my position was heartily approved by most of my hearers, and by the public generally, if I may judge from press comments, and I am satisfied the country at large will welcome the court's action.

"The independent roads and systems are by this decision assured that connecting lines with whom they interchange business cannot be bought up by some powerful competitor of their own, and of such friendly connecting lines, and the holders of se-

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) April 12.-Nathan Morris, an attorney, and Frank Haas, the twelve-year-old son of Dr. Joseph Haas, were burned to death to-day, and Mrs. Joseph Haas, Miss Belle Haas, Miss Rose Haas, Louis Haas and Hass, Miss Rose Hass, Louis Hass and Grace Lemoin, a governess, were injured by fire that almost destroyed the house of Dr. Joseph Hass.

The fire started from the furnace. The family was asleep on the second floor. Morris was a brother of Mrs. Hass. From the position of his charred body when found, it was evident he was endeavoring to get the family out of the rooms when overcome by smoke and flames. The body of Frank Hass and the unconsclous governess were found on the back stairs. Louis Hass broke his leg by jumping from a third-story window.

Morris was senior member of the commercial law firm of Morris. A Newburger. He was born in California in 1857, and practiced in Indianapolis since 1877.

Col. Bill Root.

SALT LAKE (Utah) April 12.—Col. Bill Root, a noted frontiersman, a companion, through most of his life, of "Buffalo Bill," a friend of "Bill" Nye, during the latter's reportorial days in Laramie, Wyo., and an associate, in years by, of other men of Wyoming, who have since become famous, died suddenly of heart failure in his apartments in this city late last night. He was about 60 years of age.

Col. Root played an important part in the settlement and development of the Far West. When a young man he settled in Laramie: became interested in the Laramie Boomerang, and took "Bill" Nye in partnership with him. This was the beginning of the latter's fame as a writer. It is said that some of the first stories which Nye published and which helped to make him famous were actual adventures of Root. A few years later, while both men were connected with the Boomerang, Root, armed with a six-shooter, hunted for Nye for three weeks with the avowed intention of killing him. The trouble was caused by Nye writing one of his cutting editorials, entitled, "A Monumental Liar," in which Root figured a bit too conspicuously to his own liking.

As a catcher of wild animals, Col. Root had an international fame. Hundreds of deer, elk, and other beasts of the forest owe their present captivity on this and the other side of the Atlantic Ocean to his clever trapping.

Col. Root had several fortunes, but through generosity was never able to keep them. The funeral will take place under the auspices of the Order of Elks, of which he was a prominent member.

IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.I SPRINGFIELD (III.) April 12.—One death, a fatal injury and a score or more of injuries resulted from a tor-nado that swept Logan, Dewet and Platt counties this afternoon. The fatality occurred in the Halsadarsers settlement, a farming community three miles from Atwood, Platt county. The home of Clifford Halsadarser molished, and after the storm, Halsa-darser's infant son was found dead, 300 feet from where the house stood. His wife was hurled across the street and fatally injured.

Mrs. J. B. Martin's home was destroyed, and several guests were painfully injured. Creek in Logan county, where the storm first struck, was swept dry of water. Reports from this district state that three houses were destroyed and a number of people more or less injured. Supervisor Schanauer's handsome residence was destroyed. The family of several children and a number of visitors, fifteen in all, sought safety in the cellar, and the house was torn from over them.

The homes of Samuel V. Baldwin and Gus Knecht were destroyed. Mrs. Baldwin and two farm hands took refuge in a smokehouse, in which they were hurled several hundred feet and painfully injured. It is reported that the town of Waynesville, and the Blue Grass districts, east of Atlantic, were struck, and much damage resulted, but communication with these points

RAIN IN TORRENT.

IMPERIAL'S ELECTRIC STORM. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) PITTSBURGH, April 12 .- A telegram from Imperial says rain began falling in torrents this evening and continued one hour, accompanied by a most severe electrical storm. In a short time the Montour Valley, which at this point is very narrow, was a foaming mass of water, and timber from nearby lumber yards filled and obstructed it. The tracks of the Montour Raliroad were carried away in many places. The coal traffic from the Imperial district of the Pittsburgh Coal Company will be at a standstill for several days until the raliroad can be built over. The farmers in the valley will suffer great loss, as many fields were almost ready for planting.

MY INVER BAY.

Och! Inver, Bay, on a harvest day.

And the run goin' down the sky:
When with many's the laugh the boats put aff.

And many's the merry cry!
To Cork's own Cove tho one might rove,

He wouldn't find, machree,
A rarer bay, a sweeter hay,
A sweeter bay nor thee!
For the Kaiser's rod and his realms so

For the Name broad.

I wouldn't swap, not I,

I wouldn't swap, not I,

My Inver Bay of a harvest day.

And the sun goin' down the sky!

A sweeter boat there's not afloat
Than Pathrick Rose's Nan:
A bolder crew, nor lads more thrue,
Is not in wide Irelan;
A long, long pull, a sthrong, sthrong

A long, long puit, a schrong, schrong puil.

An' wan right hearty cheer—
Our Nan so brave she cuts the wave,
An' our comrade-boats we clear;
We lead the throng, we sthrike a song,
An' rise it loud an' high.
On Inver Bay on a harvest day.
With the sun goin' down the sky!

Till we reach away where the herrin's play, There's neither slack nor slow; When quick as thought our nets shot;

shot;
On the thafts then we lie low.
And many a stave rolls over the wave,
And many a yarn is told,
The sea all white with silver bright
The air all filled with gold—
A scene more grand God's good right

LEYDEN HOUSE DOOMED.

One of Atlanta's Most Historic Landmarks. Where Sherman Planned the March to the Sea, to be Destroyed.

INV DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. ATLANTA. April 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Leyden House, one of the most historic landmarks of Atlanta, is going to give way before the general wave of prosperity that has been sweeping over Atlanta. In ante-bellum days Leyden House was the home of One Death, a Fatal Injury and a the family whose name it bears, It was one of the handsomest residences the family, whose name it bears, It was one of the handsomest residences in this section of beautiful homes, and there the wealth and culture of the State were frequently assembled.

During the siege of Atlanta the house was several times struck by Federal bullets, and the large tree which today stands in the front yard, and which must be removed for the new house, was struck by a Federal cannon ball and its top cut off.

When Gen. William T. Sherman marched into Atlanta at the head of the northern army, he selected Leyden House for Federal headquarters, and during the summer of 1864 he was quartered there.

It was in the old residence that the famous "March to the Sea" was mapped out and plans laid for its successful conclusion. Because it had been headquarters, it was one of the few buildings which were spared when Sherman applied the torch to Atlanta and left it in ashes.

Since then other and perhaps finerhomes have been erected in the immediate vicinity of the Old Leyden House, but none of them has succeeded in obtaining that air of comfort and luxdiate vicinity of the Old Leyden House, but none of them has succeeded in notaining that air of comfort and luxuriousness which surrounds the old place. With its columns and verandas, it is typical of the style of architecture that was popular in the South before the war and it seems to have brought the charm and memories of that period through the bustle and energy of the forty years or more that have passed since it was first rected.

Leyden House has been pointed out as a curiosity and landmark to the visitors in this city for more than thirty years, and more than one North-ener has gone home again with all else obliterated from his mind's eye save this one bit of ante-bellum pride and spirit and culture that has stood almost in the heart of the Gate City.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 12.-The Marow divorce case came to an and yesterday afternoon in Judge Bledsee's court. It lasted five days. The court has not yet rendered a final deci-sion, but the two partial decisions so far made are in favor of Mrs. Jessie Magaw, the plaintiff.

Judge Bledsoe denied the crosscomplaint filed by Magaw, charging his wife with adultery, and also awarded the custody of the child to the mother. Incidentally, the judge awarded the custody of the child to the mother. Incidentally, the judge administered to Magaw a clean-cui. sarcastic "roast;" one of the kind that sizzles and burns, dwelling particularly on the point that the defendant had erred when he made the scrious charge of adultery against his wife, without being able to furnish any proof to back it up.

Bay Bell Buoy Goes Adrift.

Notice is issued by J. B. Milton. United States Lighthouse inspector for the Twelfth District. that the bell buoy, red and black horizontal stripes, heretofore located about 150 feet south of a rock in San Pedro Bay, has one adrift. It will be replaced as soon as

The signing of Kid Carter and Sam McVey for the May date assures a contest in a few weeks and one that the sports have no reason to fear. An effort was made to get Woods and Carter to meet, but Carter was too heavy for the local man, and no match was made. Carter declared he could not make 165 pounds at 3 o'clock on the day of the proposed match, and as Woods is a lighter man than Carter, there was nothing doing.

No preliminaries have been arranged for this, but it is Manager McCarey's idea to have a four-round go and one of six rounds, making two short fights that should be fast on account of the short distance.

The club management intends to revive the scheme of holding tem-round fights of men in the various classes, as the recent ten-round night proved to be a very satisfactory one in many ways. These cards give faster work and more men in action, without the leng strain of a twenty-round go. The public likes to see fast work, and it is rarely found in a long-distance everts. It is safe to say that two or three contests like Mississippl and McFadden fights are not to be picked up every day, but the club management should endeavor to get that black fighter here again, for he is good enough for anyone to see.

Buddy King and Toby Irwin would make another good card. Both are looking for trouble, and King is on the ground here. Herrera would not make a bad attraction here, either, or Britt

First Glimpses of the Interior of the New Mason Operahouse.

So near completion is the splendid Mason Opera House on Broadway that the Angelene already can begin to feel proud in the pe finest playhouse on the Pacific Coast. Scaffolding has been taken down in the interior, the boxes in the splendor of new decoration, are king onto the big stage-one of the largest in the United States-and crates of theater chairs lie in the auditorium, ready to be placed. One of the most striking features of the theater is the foyer, with its stately white columns and general air of elegance. An idea of this imposing approach, and the general interior, with the boxes in detail, may be gained from the pictures reproduced here, taken yesterday by the Times hotographer. These are the first pictures published of the interior, concerning which the public has begun to be curious

TALKS WITH CITIZENS.

While the 2-cent-fare proposition is agitating the public mind of this city, and nearly everyone is either defending or attacking the proposed innovation, how many are there who speak from experience with similar conditions, knowing anything about the actual working of the 2-cent-fare idea?

At the corner of South Main and Rice streets lives Dan F. Reynolds, formerly assistant City Attorney of Cleveland. O. Mr. Reynolds held his office there and was later Councilman during the height of the low-fare agitation in that city, which lasted during nearly all of the year 1897. By virtue of his office, a committeeship which he held, and a good deal of public spirit. Mr. Reynolds was thrown into the thick of the controversy. For months he devoted almost his whole time to the investigation of the propo-

"The city of Toronto, Ont., is required to construct all pavements, for which the railroad pays annually the sum of $800 per mile. The city is also bound to do all repaving and repairing, whether damage results from wear or other causes. In 1896, Toronto received under the mileage clause, $65,000, and from the gross receipt percentage, $78,921, making a total of $188,921. Toronto has given this railway system the exclusive right under the whole term of its grant, and thereby opposition is impossible.

Detroit, Pingree's place, where the cheap-fare idea was carried out, is also cursed by such regulations. Pavement within and without the tracks on unpaved streets is laid by the city. On paved streets, after original construction, the city is required to keep the pavement in repair, from whatever cause the damage results. On unpaved streets the city is further required to lay a six-inch foundation

He believes in this town more than any one else, evidently, and while I am not a monopolist, I believe it would be playing him a mean trick to throw him down now, just because some unknown party desires to tempt the public with elusive promises. Considering the dismal results of the low-fare system in other cities, I should strongly advise against any such move here."

"Catholics and Episcopalians have virtually disappeared from the field of social action since the early March days, but this week will see them back in full force. Orders have been piling in upon the caterers for future events for some time, and the affairs will be of the gayest sort. Dances, receptions, teas, theater parties, at homes, stag dinners—all sorts of things will be happening every day now. The young men have got the stag-dinner fad, and they have it good and hard. ## Conservative Life Helps Los Angels

Extract from Editorial in Los Angeles Times, March 18, 1903.

Some years ago a well-known Los Angeles banker, now gone before, expressed to the editor of this journal the opinion that Los Angeles was destined to become a great financial centre, drawing money from all over the United States, a center of heavy financial operations (including life insurance,) where great industrial and commercial operations may be financed. There is no good reason why his prediction should not be fulfilled. A beginning has been made by the establishment of a first-class life insurance company in this city, the second to be established on the Pacific Coast, the other being located in San Francisco. Few people stop to consider what the possibilities are in this direction

Roughly estimated, $7,000,000 is collected annually from California as lifeinsurance premiums, and sent East to build up Eastern cities. About half this amount comes back. The business constantly grows and since the outgo is first and the inflow only at the maturity of policies, the amount of business constantly increasing, this ratio is about right.

Los Angeles is as well located for a life. insurance company as is Milwaukee. Mil waukee receives an inflow of money Angels.

amounting to about $30,000,000 by virtue of one life-insurance co located in that city.

Take another comparison. Des M lowa, the headquarters of a numb companies, has the largest postal re in proportion to its population of any in the country, by virtue of the lifeance companies centered there. The is relatively true of Hartford, Ct., for same reason.

Banks and other similar institutions circumscribed by the needs of people wh but an insurance company is capable indefinite expansion. A two-cent stand brings an application for life-insurance ju as easily from Maine or Minnesota as does from Pasadena.

Would it not be a good thing for Angeles and Southern California if we could have twenty or thirty millions of dollar pouring into this city, collected from sections of the country? Could we me profitably use this money for investment and for the development of our natural resources? The Times commends this sufficient to all the sufficient to all the sufficients and the sufficient to all the sufficients are sufficient to all the sufficients and the sufficients are sufficient to all the sufficients are sufficients are sufficient to all the sufficients are sufficient gestion to all who are interested in the progress and prosperity of the City of the

The work of laying new tracks on the University line from Thirty-second street to the terminus at Agricultural Park is progressing apidly.

The varsity baseball team defeated the ball tossers of the Union Hardware and Metal Company for the second time, this season on the campus yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. It was a very fair exhibition of the game. The local boys have improved their style of play very much in the last few weeks, and there are many who now think they have a chance to win the intercollegiate championship in baseball.

CAMPAIGN LITERATURE.

The local literature of the campaign has been particularly voluminous. The Outlook has been saying things every afternoon and the Review has been working all night in an effort to contradict them on each following morning. This morning the Review, evidently thinking it had the last word, printed a lot of inspired attacks on Dr. Chapman. Among them was a long-winded communication from E. H. Sweetzer. The Outlook, however, neatly sprung a surprise, and issued a special edition, which was distributed to the people, leaving the meeting this evening, and was also delivered from house to house through town. One of the features of the special edition was a ringing roast directed against Sweetzer, indicating how that worthy, who is an active Presbyterian, has been working in the interest of the liquor element.

FLYING CUES AND BALLS. CAMPAIGN LITERATURE.

FLYING CUES AND BALLS. A fight, which is said to have started between two young men who quarreled over a woman, took place this afternoon at the billiard-room at the old Neptune Gardens at Utah and Ocean avenues. Others joined in, and the affair developed into a general "rough house." Billiard balls and billiard cues were used with much force and freedom, and a number of men received bad bruises. Some of the woodwork about the place was smashed and a considerable crowd collected. Andreas Olivera was struck on the face with a cue. His son, Joseph Olivera, received wounds on the bill. from which he bled freely. Bert and John Grimes and the younger Olivera were arrested by City Marshal Barretto and Constable Pritchard and taken before Justice Jenness. Charges of disturbing the peace were preferred and the detendants were released on their own recognizance. A fight, which is said to have start

Blanchard Hall ENGAGEMENT EXTRAORDINARY!

Our plans were laid to make an artistic display of several hundred high grade pianos in Blanchard Hall. Such an attempt has never before been made. We leased the beautiful Blanchard Hall for the first two weeks in April. A whole train-20 cars—of pianos was shipped early last month and have only just arrived, being fully two weeks late. The shipment consists of Weber, A. B. Chase, Kimball, Schumann, Hobart M. Cable, Whitney, Hinze and other pianos, making the finest assortment ever brought to Los Angeles. Now we have no place large enough to make proper display. True, we have 15 rooms, 3 floors, 22,000 feet of floor space, but that will not suffice to show 550 pianos.

Read the Following Explanatory Letter:

BLANCHARD BUILDING Los Angeles, Cal., April 10, 1903

BARTLETT MUSIC CO., City:

Gentlemen-It will be impossible to hold B anchard Hall for you any longer, as dates have been made booking the rest of the month of April for every night and also far into May.

The best I can possibly do for you is to let you have the two large rooms, the parior and the annex. Can you not use these and rent a storage room for six or eight caroads of pianos for the present? Assuring you of my regret at your predicament, I'am yours faithfully. FRED W. BLANCHARD.

We have decided to avail ourselves of these extra rooms, still there is nothing left to do but to SELL—sell quickly—sell at a great sacrifice—sell on three years' time-sell at 10 to 30 per cent, discount and on your own terms. The manufacturers pay the freight and make the discount. almost, for Pete's Remnants were shut out the last four games of the series by scores that grew larger every day. It was another case of a good ball team beating an unseasoned one—and that's the whole story in a breath. The Remnants were simply outfielded by better men, and will have to improve a lot to beat the Looloos.

There was more or less excitement all through the nine rounds, for there were a number of fine plays and some sharp hitting. As an incident not on the score tard, Wild Bill, Devereaux of the Remnants was put out of the game in the sixth inning for rude language to Umpire McDonald over a decision at third base, and was joshed rather

The season of the National Associa tion will open on the Coast tomorrow and with this event the fight between the Pacific Coast League and the Na tional Association will be on.

The leagues are business ventures that cater to the baseball public and as such must stand upon their merits for success. The one that gives the best baseball will draw the crawd. Both are backed by plenty of money with which to carry on the fight, in the way of securing first-class players, and the fans must awaif the finish-of the war with fortitude, for the task of attending two ball games at the same attending two ball games at the same time is not to be considered very easy. The only way it can be successfully done is for some enterprising capitalist to establish a system of captive balloons over Washington street between the rival parks, from which both games could be seen for the price of one.

PURCELL'S FINE PITCHING. BAKERSFIELD. April 12.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Helena won the game against Bakersfield today by a score against Bakersfield today by a score of 9 to 4. The announcement that Manager Flannery had loaned the home team Putnam, his fine southpaw twirler, for the occasion, brought out an immense crowd. Heissman went into the box for the visitors and the Bakersfield boys found him at once and clearly batted him out of the box. At the end of the third laning the score was 4 to 1 in favor of Bakers-field, and it appeared to the worked-up and excited spectators that the home nine would surely win. At this period Putnam was taken from the home team and Purcell relieved Heissmann.

Nationals Arrive.

Capt. Charles Reilly and the tional team came to this city last night from Asusa, and will probably practice at the new park today. The Helena team will arrive this morning from Bakersfield, where it has been practicing for some weeks.

Reilly's New Men.

Reilly announced yesterday that he had signed for the Nationals, Pitcher John Thielman of Cincinnati, who is known by reputation to many ball players and fans. He has also secured George Hanson as catcher. He finished the season two years ago with the Oakland team of the California League, dnd last year played with the Des Moines, lowa, team. Both men will arrive here today, if not delayed on the road. Another "unknown" pitcher has been signed, and also as a general utility man. Kid Bresino, the old Los Angeles favorite, has been secured. All of the Nationals are in good shape, with the exception of Reilly, who wrenched his back yesterday in the Asusa game.

UNION PARK RACES.

MANY SHORT ENDERS WON.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—[Exclu-SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Fifteen short-ends landed the money in the coursing races at Union Park today, making the day's sport a good one for the talent. The crack hound, Sacramento Boy, won the special stake in the deciding course of that event from Full Moon, thus continuing his succession of winning races against some of the best hounds in this section. The open stake was captured by Mount Rose, which hound beat Renegade after two hot races in the deciding course. The Sapling stake was won by Rag-time.

the deciding course. The Sapling stake was won by Rag-time.
Enthusiastic devotees of the coursing game made an effort today to secure a meeting between two crack hounds, Palo Alto and Pocatelli. These two dogs, with Sacramento Boy, are acknowledged to be the best hounds on the Coast, and an attempt was made to bring Palo Alto and Pocatelli together in a matched race, best two in three courses, but Eugene Geary, owner of the former dog, declined to consider the proposition at this time. George Nethercod, owner of Pocatell, is understood to be willing to make a match with Palo Alto, and a meeting between the two hounds may be arranged for the near future.

As yet Manager Flannery has no regular third baseman. He has sent Howletts to third and for the present is playing shortstop. The Helena stars finished their training this morning. The players have worked faithfully twice a day for the past two weeks. The last six days have been devel entirely to team work and signals. All the members are in first-class condi-tion. In this afternoon's game they made a fine appearance in their new uniforms of dark red, with yeilow trimmings. All the players feel dure of taking the majority of games from Los Angeles in the coming series.

AZUSA WAS SHUT OUT.

The Los Angeles Nationals and the Azusa team played an exhibilition game at Azusa yesterday before an audience of about 800 people, from Azusa and the surrounding heighborhood. The score shows that the Nationals put up a good game, and banged the ball hard at all times. Three of the team pitchers were used at different stages. A novel feature of the game was that, in the ninth inning, the twelve men of the National team were called to the plate separately, and there presented with bouquets by twelve young ladies, Business Manager De Voin re-AZUSA WAS SHUT OUT.

METHODS OF CLEANING BRASSES Polly said: "I notice the painters have spilled paint on the brasses, and in this case we shall have to let it soften a little and then remove it as we did on the glass, after which we will just wipe the brasses with a soft rag dipped in hot vinegar with a little sait. This will make them look very nice and clean."

"Mother used to use lemon peelings

THE "SEWING-ROOM" OPEN.

"Well, don't you see, Peggy dear, that is almost the same thing as the vinegar and sait? It is, the acid and the sait, and as we have no lemons and it is no particular economy to go and get them we may as well use the vinegar we have. We could use oxalic acid, but it is so poisonous I prefer not to have it about."

"Look here, Polly, these brasses in the tubs are something dreadful. They are all covered with plaster or some such stuff and paint, and no ordinary cleaning is going to make them look half decent. What shall I do about it?"

"I think you will have to try the lye on that. Put it on with a brush and let i tstand a few minutes, and then take a knife and scrape the plaster off, and after that you can finish it with the vinegar and sait."

REGILDING CHANDELIERS.

REGILDING CHANDELIERS. I suggested to the landlord that he could renew the gilding on these chan-deliers, but he told me 'it was a small thing, and I might do it myself,' which deliers, but he told me 'it was a small thing, and I might do it myself, which was very nice of him. As far as renewing gliding goes, that can easily be done by using a little gliding with a brush, but to clean it is is necessary only to wpe it over with vinegar and salt, and it is well to apply this simply as a measure of bealth. Vinegar is a very good disinfectant."

"I have been told that gliding is made to look almost as good as new by washing it with the whites of three eggs beaten with an ounce of soda, but I do not know that that is any better than the vinegar and salt."

"I had a woman clean this marble basin, and I suppose she did it, but it really doesn't look very well. I don't like little dirt corners the same as this has. I am going to try it this way. I shall let a little vinegar stand on this hard dirt for a few minutes, and then I am going to take a little sharp stick and clean that all out, then with sand-soap and a soft rag I shall make it look like a different thing. Look at this now that I have finished, and see if it is not an improvement."

"Have you ever noticed that in using sand-soap your hands don't get hard?"

"That's one thing I like about it. You can scrub with sand-soap all you are two sizes. I bought them to hold books when I moved and then to become window seats and receptacles for such articles as are not needed every day. You see, every inch of room has to do its duty here. The hanging seloset is all made. It went through Europe with me, hung in the cabin when I crossed the ocean, has stayed with me through the various movings of eight years, and today looks as if it had just begun to be. The dimensions may be as one likes. Mine is made from ordinary gingham, the invisible check kind. It is made double, and when done is the width of the cloth and four feet long. It has two deep pockets at the bottom, which hold articles for the laundry or whatever may seem best placed therein. Above these there is a row of three pockets ten inches deep, and still higher a row of four pockets six and a half inches deep. The cloth was turned up at the bottom to form the deep pockets, but if I were to make another I should have a strip a little wider than the cloth to give fullness to the pocket. It makes the back bulge to have pocket sand back of the same size. The smaller pockets were made with a little fullness a the bottom which is set into a box plait. The pockets and entire case are bound with wide tape and loops of the same serve for hanging it. When it went traveling with me I carried small brass hooks to screw into the wall to hang it on. This is perfect for holding everything that can't go anywhere else. This one on the bathroom door holds wrapping paper, laundry tacks, strings, curling tongs, etc. It has been washed repeatedly, and time has proved to me that when I invented that hanging closet I did a good thing."

"There's nothing new in the idea of a covered box. Our grandmothers had the same thing to hold kindlings and wood."

"Of course that is true, but there may be noveltee in the way the box is planned inside and decorated outside. For instance, did you ever see one like this?" and Polly lifted the cover of one in the broadest window.

A UNIQUE "SEWING-ROOM."

This is the sewing-room. You see the entire tox is lined with cretonne, and under that is lavender seed. Doesn't it smell old-timey? That keeps are the things from ever growing musty. The box is padded either bottom or sides. At the bottom are the materials to be made up—aprons. dresses or what-not. You see, one end is a stocking bag made onto the box. There are the stockings to be mended, cottom, needles and such essentials. On the other end is a bag for pieces of setten goods. The sides have three bags each, deep and not very full.

"Findings," as dressmakers call them, go into one, bones, binding, ribbon, etc.; into the small bags which compose one of the large bags go hooks and eyes, white buttons, colored buttons, white thread, colored thread, embroidery silks, while the leaves of fiannel on the outside hold the loose needles: thimbles and scissors, etc., are in a strap on the cover. Rolls of woolen pieces like dress linings, old linens, flannel, fill the other bags. These things all are necessary, but are a nuisance generally, and that is how I had to plan some means of having them easily got at, and yet out of the way."

"I think that is lovely, and when the cover is down it looks like nothing except a window seat. The box looks better, I think, with that Bagdad ruz better. I think, with that Bagdad rus over it than when it is covered with something that makes the defined box outline."

"The box in the dining-room window is devoted to photographs, and like matters. That is stained inside with the strong solution of permanganate of potash. It took twice going over with a brush. As soon as I have the time the outside of the box will be decorated with a motto in pyrography, and then the wood just linted a soft brown by the warm point. Brass hinges will hold cover and box together. I could do it all in a day and have a lovely thing, but just now the days are full enough."

"SHOE CLOSET AND PLANT

"SHOE CLOSET AND PLANT STAND."

Peggy, while listening to the plan for the future, had been investigating the boxes of the present, and now she burst in delightedly: "That is the nicest shoe box I ever saw. Why, Polly, you really are an inventor. I'm going to have a box just like this in my room. But why did you have a curtain for it instead of a swinging cover?"

"Because I dislike the odor of any place where boots and rubbers are shut up. You see. I had to have it open at the side in order to get at the two compartments. This upper one, you notice, holds dress slippers, all of which I keep wrapped in their bags. On the bottom are the common boots and rubbers, and in the back, where it can't get upset, is the boot dressing. Permanganute of potash gives this its tint. The dark brown canton fannel for cover at sides and the curtain tones well with the room. I had the stuff before. The tin case which fits the top of the box prevents any moisture from the plants soaking through the wood on to the boots, and so this box which fits the window as so this box which fits the window as if it were made for it, serves the double

"Yes, that is simply a sachet lining, top, bottom and sides. Wadding sprinkled with lavender and then this bright cretonne made the box ready to hold my less-often worn freeks, and they are out of the dust. There isn't space in the wordrobe, and then it hurts one's best gowns to be crowded with one's cveryday garments, besides making them dusty and taking the freshness from them. There's space for yours, too. Here they keep fresh, sweet and unwrinkled. What do you think of the proxy closets." "Yes, that is simply a sachet lining

"I was sent there to examine a gold property, and if my report is accepted a wealthy syndicate, composed of Deniver and San Francisco capitalists, will enter the field. Over half a million dollars will be expended in equipment, if the deal is consummated, and I have every reason to believe that it will be within the next thirty days.

ANAHEIM. April 12.—J. B. Pierce and wife were tried here yesterday on a charge of cruelty to the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Pierce by her first husband. The boy's name is Leonard Foster and he is well known in the community, where he has resided with his mother and step-father several years. Neighbors testified that both Mr. and Mrs. Pierce had mistreated the lad for some time, but they decided to stand it no longer when the parents gave him a merciless licking this week. Heart-rending cruelty, it was testified, was practiced by the parents upon the boy at this beating a few days

Mrs. Pierce, the child's own mother, was charged with having stripped off his ciothing above the waist, and lashed his naked back and sides furiously with a heavy leather blacksnake" whipe. The little fellow bore the terrible blows until his strength falled and he sank to the d. It was claimed that then rushed up and kicked the help-form two or three times. pie and Richard Meirose for the defendants.

Pierce first came into court with the intention of trying his own case, he having been Justice of the Peace here for ten or fifteen years, up to a few years ago, but when he saw so many witnesses who would offer testimony against the defendants he went out and employed an attorney. The case was tried before Judge Howard, without a jury, and late yesterday evening he rendered a verdict finding his pierce guilty, letting her off with a fine of $15 and dismissing the case against Pierce.

The boy refused to go home with his parents, and last night stayed at the home of a neighbor, L. W. Rains. He says he will not return to the Pierce ranch to live, but it is stated here today that the Pierces are determined to get him back home, if they have to take legal steps to do so. The hidignant neighbors stated last might most emphatically that if the boy is again lashed or beaten thefe will be some interesting doings about three miles west of town.

Temperance Forces Enthusiastic and Sentiment Against Dramshops Strong Closing Rallies Draw Crowds-Recordbreaking Vote Expected.

SANTA ANA, April 12.-The closing railies of the hottest municipal cam railies of the hottest municipal cam-paign seen in this city for many years were held last night and today. Last night the anti-saloon faction held a brief street meeting, followed by a rousing rally in Spurgeon's Hall, where Rev. J. C. Hall spoke upon the saloon and the saloon of the saloon of the saloon of the saloon. Rev. J. C. Hall speke upon the saloon in relation to crime. He depicted it as ithe hot-bed of crime, responsible for fully 73 per cent. of the cases in the courts today. He said the abolition of the saloon would mean the partial fabilition at least of the police force and of the jail. The speaker cited the statement of Chief of Police Elton of statement of Chief of Police Elton of Los Angeles that the driving out of the saloon would mean the end of the social evil and the gambling dens. A rousing appeal to the audience to continue the inspiring work of the cambaign until the close of the polis Monday evening concluded his nd-cussions on the issues of the campaign by J. S. Haywood, M. Ucovitch and Dr. R. A. Lord.

This afternoon and evening Mr. Hall addressed two big mass meetings in the operahouse. A portion of the time was devoted to a refutation of arguments advanced by the opposition and the remainder to a concise and convincing review of the prohibition side of the question, repeating and emphasizing the main points of the anti-saloon contention. Both meetings developed much enthusiasm.

sizing the main points of the anti-saloon contention. Both meetings developed much enthusiasm.

On the eve of the election, the antisaloon party is the generally-acknowledged winner in the fight, although saloon men claim victory. Both sides will indulge in vigorous electioneering tomorrow, and it is probable that almost the entire registered vote of the city will be polled, as the interest in the election has become so widespread that the saloon issue is the sole topic of conversation and comment. More

Weils, general manager; F. J. Shephard, general superintendent; G. R. Joughins, superintendent of motive power and machinery; A. L. Day, trainmaster of the lines west of Albuquerque, and F. M. Vanclair of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, came to this city on official business and pleasure combined. While here it was ascertained that one of the objects was to get data and information regarding the desired new depot.

EXTENSIVE PAVING.

Rediands is going into the street paving business on a rather extensive scale, the city officials being now engaged in looking after the preliminaries for letting the new contract. It is expected that the specifications will be presented to the City Trustees at their next meeting, and then arrangements will be made to advertise for bids. The new pavements will be of asphaltum and will extend east from Pourth street on West Central avenue across Fifth street; on Fifth street from East Central avenue to East Citrus avenue; on East State street from Fifth to Sixth street; on West Citrus avenue from Pourth to Orange street, and on East Citrus avenue from Pourth orange street, and on East Citrus avenue from Pourth orange street, and on East Citrus avenue from Orange street. PLANS FOR THE PRESIDENT. LIVERSIDE, April 18.—The Execu-ive Committee in charge of the artive Committee in charge of the arrangements for the President's visit here on May 7, is hard at work perfecting details. There was a long session yesterday afternoon. It was decided to change the programme slightly from the original plan, so as to have the train stop at Pachappa Station, instead of at Casa Blanca, This will permit of a ride over Hawarden drive and Victoria avenue, and will get the party to fawn earlier than if taken to Casa Blanca. At Lime and Fourteenth' streets Co. M. N.G.C., will be in waiting, and as the President's carriage arrives the company will fall carriage arrives the company will fall in at the head of the parade. At Main in at the head of the parade. At Main and Fourteenth streets, the members of Riverside Post, G.A.R., will fall in ahead of Co. M, and will head the parade to Main and Elighth streets, where a large grandstand will be receted. The entire square will be roped off and guarded by a special force of police. As the parade comes uptown, a detail from Co. M will fire a salute of twenty-one guns from Rubidoux Mountain. The decorations, floral and otherwise, will be elaborate.

RUBBER CULTURE.

The New York Commercial described sot long ago, the destructive methods pursued by those engaged in the rubber industry in the far-eastern countries. It is now very generally admitted in the rubber trade that the rubber plants—take the industry the world over—are being destroyed far more rapidly than they are growing, and that the sources of rubber are indanger of being depleted. Effects are being made to avert this danger. Attempts to open plantations and cultivate rubber in South America have thus far not been very ruccessful, though it is probable that the experiments have not had a fair trial.

The Congo Free State now requires that for every one of rubber collected 150 plants shall be set out. In this way the State hopes to repair in the rubber forests all the damage done to them by collectors. A number of companies on the Congo are also opening plantations for the cultivation of rubber. It will be very interesting to see how effective these two expedients for remedying the evil may prove. One of the most energetic and powerful of the Congo companies in 1899 began to clear land in-the virgin forest of the district of the equator. Upper Congo, for a rubber plantation. In March, last year, it had cleared and hoed about 400 acres.

The cleared land was parceled into forty lots, each containing from two to fifteen acres, and bananas, the coffee shrub and cacao, and bread fruit trees were planted on the borders of these patches. Seven and a half acres were reserved for a nursery and 500 well-prepared beds, separated by narrow paths from one another, were laid out. Then the seeds of many rubber plants obtained from nearly The New York Commercial described these patches. Seven and a half acress were reserved for a nursery and 500 well-prepared beds, separated by narrow paths from one another, were laid out. Then the seeds of many rubber plants obtained from nearly all the rubber-growing regions of the world were planted. Beds were also reserved for European vegetables, and other useful plants; but the main object was to test the value in tropical Africa of many different species of rubber plants growing in other countries and also indigenous rubber plants to determine which varieties are best adapted for cultivation. At last accounts many black men were still extending the cleared area. The forest growth is quite dense and it is no easy matter to clear even one acre of land. But the plantation is to be very much larger than it is st present. The workmen with their women and children make a village of about 1000 inhabitants. Their hours of labor are form 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., with two hours of rest in the middle of the day.

Twenty men take care of the nursery, twenty others are detailed to guard the plantation from intuision of outside natives. Two hundred men carry on the work of deforestation. Their method is 20 cut down the traes about these feet from the ground and in a few weeks it is possible to burn most of the fallen timber. The rest of the black laborers work with heas on the plantation.

It is too early to make predictions as to the prospects of this experiment. All that can be said is that the acc of a considerable variety of rubber plants brought from Mexico, Brazil, Borneo and other regions germanted in the nursery, and the plants are growing well. Some of them attained a height of three teet in a thort time. The nursery sufficient and varieties is also successful thas far:

Work was benefit through the Alps. gun simultaneously at both ends. nearly ten miles apart. Foot by foot the rock was blasted out under the guidance of men who relied primarily on instruments which they carried with them as the work proceeded. When the last sheet of rock was broken through, and the men of each end shook hands, it was found that there was a difference of level of only four linears, and that the true line had been swerved from only eight inches. Still more remarkable accuracy may be expected of the engineers who are now boring the Simplon tunnel through the Alps. now boring through the Alps.

MORE TROUBLE FOR MOUNT.

The troubles of W. E. Mount of La.

Verne are increasing. His wife was recently committed to Highland Asylum, her mind having been affected by long illness. Subsequently Mount applied to the courts for control of his wife's estate, and was bitterly opposed by his mother-in-law. Now Dr. J. G. Russell of this place has commenced suit to recover the balance of his fee of $100, and the liveryman's charge of $26, the physician having accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Mount to Los Angeles prior to her commitment. Mount has offered half the amount in settlement.

city was cut off from communication with the outside world for hours. The trains in collision were the Canadian Pacific Railway Express from Montreal and Boston for Halifax and a fast freight from Halifax to Montreal. The conductor and driver of the freight had orders to take the siding at Windsor Junction and let the express cross, but for some unknown reason Driver Copeland of the freight ran past the junction on the main line and met the express two miles beyond.

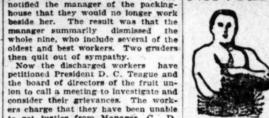

It is thought that Copeland may have lost control of his train, which was made up of seventy-five cars. The freight was running twenty-five miles an hour, and the express, which was two hours late, was traveling about forty-five miles an hour. Both trains were hauled by new and powerful locomotives, and they crossed together on a level piece of road skirting a lake. The engine crew of the express and Fireman Hill of the freight died almost immediately after the crash, and Brakeman Thorpe was instantly killed. The locomotives locked together, and remained on the track. The postal and baggage cars went over the embankment down into the lake. Two railroad mail clerks in the car were badly shaken up. Their car landed right side up, but began to fill with water, but they escaped by climbing through a window in the roof and wading ashore. The men in the baggage and express car had a like experience. WHITTLINGS.

home, though the places of the discharged persons were filled temporarily from a neighboring house.

The disgrunted packers' chief complaint is that Mrs. Adair has robbed them of their share of the more profitable work, by refusing to pack any but the large fruit, and repeated appeals to the manager and foreman have been unavailing in securing the enforcement of the rules against the privileged woman, until the conditions have become intolerable.

The bitterness of the feeling against Mrs. Adair is shown in the causes of complaint recited in the appeal to the directors, which are in these words: "First, that there was no trouble among the packers until Mrs. Adair began working here: second, that owing to her selfshness and dishonesty, the packers could not agree with her in maintaining their rights; third, that from the first, she persisted in packing-more than her share of the small fruit; fourth, that when she was remonstrated with by the other packers, she openly boasted that she could do as she liked, saying that 'Mr. Nelson and Mr. Thomoson wouldn't say anything to her; fifth, that after the manager and foreman had been repeatedly informed of her actions they falled to try even to correct her. We claim that both the manager and foreman had been remained and she shirked their duty in this instance, and by so doing-and also discharging us, they have placed us in a wrong light."

The petition is signed by six women and five men, as follows: Misses Rita Brownlee, trene Glass, Mina C. Griffin, and Teresa Tridle; Mmes, Lillie Willets and Mary E. DeLapp: J. F. Tridle, J. C. Tridle, N. H. Elear and Mr. Cleveland. The two last named are graders, who resigned their positions out of sympathy for the movement against Mrs. Adolt.

Correct Methods Bring Correct Results

The merit of our methods is proven by the success attending those methods. Also proving our skill and ability.

We ask the public to judge us by our work. We court inquiry as to ourselves and our practice.

It is not at all strange that our practice is increasing faster than ever, as Dr. Harrison's reputation stands pre-eminent as the specialist that cures. Our practical common-sense methods have the merit. It is the curing of hundreds of ailing men that makes our supremacy. We know what we can do. We do it at the right time, and with the skill that brings success. We are particularly desirous that men should come to us who have been treating elsewhere, are not cured, have received no benefit and really in many instances are in worse condition than when they began treating. It is just those men we are anxious to treat. We have no fear of failure in any case we accept. Men who come to us always receive a careful examination, a correct diagnosis of their case is always given, and the right treatment given in each individual case. Our methods are correct.

VARICOCELE

DR. HARRISON'S cure for varicocele is ABSOLUTELY SURE. PAINLESS. SIMPLE and Permanent. The patient is cured in the property of the patient is cured in the property of the patient is suffering with deposite the patient is suffering with deposite will never right the trouble, in fact, bothing but the right treatment will effect a cure. To prove our faith in our method, Dr. Harrison offers 31009 for a cure other than his method. WE NEVER FAIL, and will GUARANTEE an ABSOLUTE AND PERFECT CURE of varicocele in every case we accept. Call and talk with us about it.

Our sanitarium is for the benefit of our patients who need its care and seclusion. It is up to date and modern in every par-ticular, best of sanitary conditions with trained nurses. No extra charge to our

Kidney and Bladder Troubles

These troubles afflict in some way the greater majority of men, particularly of middle age, and they are always of a serious nature.—Our treatment of these troubles has been eminently satisfactory; the patient invariably being relieved, unless there be organic or structural change of the kidneys, and even then the relief we give is oftentimes surprising. We wish the public to kindly remember that Dr.

Dr. Harrison successfully treats varicocele, hydrocele, kidney and blader trouble piles and fistula, blood disease, private disorders, stricture, weakness of whatever nature and all reflex nervous troubles.

Two Italian peanut venders with stands on North Main street reversed a part of the old adage last night and were penny foolish. A pedestrian, who was walking three feet where he should have walked one, on account of zig-zaga, dropped a coin between the two stands. It was done purposely but the Italians only heard the clink of the metal on the pavement and saw the yellow gleam. Both made a grab for it at the same time. They dived into each other with enough force to make each think the other had wicked intentions. A fight was precipitated which was fast and furious for a time. A street gamin got the yellow coin, which was a penny, and the peanut men recovered themselves just in time to escape the patroiman en the beat.

UEER WRECK CHOKES TUNNEL AT SANGUS.

THREE HUGE OIL CARS OFF TRACK IN THE CURVED MIDDLE.

Traffic Over Southern Part of Southern Pacific Valley Line Completely Blocked but Through Trains Proceed by Coast

A peculiar wreck occurred on the Southern Pacific road at 1:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Tunnel No. 24 at Saugus. It blocked traffic com-pletely for twenty-four hours. The wrecked train was the second section of through eastern freight, No. 3254 and the trouble was caused by one of the huge new double oil cars jumping the track in about the middle of the tunnel.

There is a considerable incline in the grade through the tunnel, and about the center there is a curve. Here the big oil car left the track and derailed two others. The three big tanks were jammed across the road, completely blockading the passage. Several cars behind added to the impact, making the wreck a hard one to handle making the wreck a hard one to handle. The tunnel is only about three hundred feet long, and is located just beyond the railroad yards at Saugus.

The steam wrecker and crew was sent out from Los Angeles at 4 o'clock yesterday asternoon, and it was expected the track would be cleared early this morning. No one was hurt in the wreck, but the tunnel timbers. in the wreck, but the tunnel timbers early this morning. No one was hurt in the wreck, but the tunnel timbers were considerably damaged.

The "Owl" and a special orange train were diverted to the Coast route last night. The train leaving Los Angeles yesterday at 12:10 is held at Saugus until the track is cleared.

The Southern Pacific has extra demands made upon it just now to handle the orange traffic, and the train sent up the Coast Line last night is the eighth orange extra sent out within two days. It is stated, however, that the wreck will not delay any orange shipments, as they will be handled by way of the Coast Line, until regular traffic is resumed through the Saugus tunnel.

The wreck is south of the joint track of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fé, and the latter road is not affected.

The cars causing the wreck are of 12,500 gallons, or seventy-five tons capacity. Recently the double oil cars were put into service, and it was stated by railroad men last night that they had caused much trouble by their size, and had been the cause of four wrecks since coming into use.
